

Master Hunter Qualifies with All Seven Hunting Implements

George Coulbourn of Black Diamond became the first Washington Master Hunter to qualify with all seven different hunting implements when he recently completed his shooting proficiency for a slug-gun (shotgun shooting slugs). George had previously qualified with archery, muzzleloader, rifle, handgun, shotgun shooting shot, and crossbow.

Master Hunters are only required to qualify with one hunting implement but it is expected that Master Hunters will be proficient with any legal hunting implement prior to using that implement during any Master Hunter hunt. Master Hunters may qualify with additional hunting implements at any time simply by following the scoring and shooting instructions on the MH web at <http://wdfw.wa.gov/hunting/masterhunter/requirements.html> and sending the completed Shooting Proficiency Certification form to WDFW.

George was an original member of the Master Hunter Advisory Group, is a Hunter Education Instructor, currently serves on the Hunter Education Advisory Committee, and is a proctor for the Master Hunter exams. George also volunteers for agencies other than WDFW.
